

Figure 2: (a, b) Interface dermatitis and flattened rete ridges in the epidermis. Dermal hyalinosis with focal lymphocytic and eosinophilic infiltrate. A subepidermal cleft is also present (hematoxylin and eosin,  $\times 400$ ); (c) linear deposition of immunoglobulin G and complement component C3 along the basement membrane zone (direct immunofluorescence).

ACCEPTED MANUSCRIPT